NEW CRESCENT BARREL DEPARTMENT

Extensive Machinery Additions at Crescent Fire Arms Co.—
Twenty New Barrel Boring Machines—Work Expected to Commence Within a Day or Two—Gun Barrels in the Rough Will Come From Ohio.

The extensive additions of machinery for gun barrel work for the Crescent Fire Arms company in the industrial building have been completed and are in running order, awaiting the arrival of the steel barrels in the rough from Ohio. It is expected that a supply will be received in a day or two, when the new department can start turning out the finished product.

This new department of the Crescent Fire Arms company is a development because of the European war, as formerly all barrel materials were imported from Belgium. But with which supply cut off the company decided to establish its own barrel department. All this new machinery at the Crescent Fire Arms company is of design and is from Hartford makers.

When running the extra machinery will employ a number of trained hands and add largely to business of the company.

The power is furnished by two motors, one of 50 horse power, one of 100 horse power, both Westinghouse in make, and both are fine machines. The 100 horse power motor is used on the main east line of shafting for the 20 barrel boring machines, each machine requiring five horse power to run. The 50 horse power motor is for the reaming and other machines. The motors are placed in the center of each line of shafting and electrically all having been installed according to the plans and drawings by Architect C. H. Croston.

The pulleys are all of steel, and split, for easy and thorough placing and working. Special have been taken with indicators, and run very close to load demands almost noiselessly. The main belt on the 100 horsepower motor is 12 inches wide, on the 50 horse power motor eight inches wide. Both are double belt which were furnished by a local contractor, and are a part of the machine beltting has come from one of the Norwich manufacturers and the balance from the ready.

James C. Henderson is general manager of the Crescent Fire Arms company, and has devoted a large amount of time in perfecting the running of the new department.

UTILITIES ENGINEER INSPECTED THAMES STREET POLES
Along Trolley Line—Measurements Show Scant Clearance in Some Places.

C. C. Edwell, engineer for the public utilities commission, came here Thursday for a conference with city officials and officers of the Shore Line Electric Railway company over the pole line location along Thames street where the trolley company has desired to move the pole line, and plans which they have suggested have been disapproved by the common council.

Engineer Edwell arrived here at noon and a special street training over the trolley company at 2 o'clock to go over the line under discussion. Those who went with the engineer were Corporation Counsel Joseph T. May, Mayor T. C. Murphy, Alderman Hourigan, Councilmen J. J. Connelly and Joseph H. Williams. Street Commissioner Lillibridge, Supt. Stephen J. Kehoe of the gas and electrical department, Electrical Engineer R. W. Eaton, and Supt. Samuel Anderson of the trolley company.

Stops were made at the poles along the line and measurements were taken as to the clearance from the cars. In one case it was 11 inches and in other cases 15 and 16 inches from the side of the poles.

After going over the line, the party held a conference at the office of the Shore Line company in Shuteck street.

It is believed that the engineer will probably recommend that a minimum clearance of 21 inches should be maintained. As a result of this inspection and conference it is expected that the trolley people will get more attention to the common council regarding the pole line changes.

The special train in charge of Conductor Arthur Jackson and Motorman Charles Anderson.

ORIGINAL DOCUMENTS OF REVOLUTIONARY WAR
Volume Prepared by State Library—Letter by John Fitch

The State library has just prepared a volume of original documents of special interest to the people of the Revolutionary war. The volume, which contains some 200 pages, is made up of letters written by John Fitch, deputy commissary general of the Continental army, 1778-1781. About half of them relate to his work as commissary general and the other half to his work as a private soldier. He is a well educated, very human patriot.

Through a benign fate, the letters escaped the accidents of time and were found at an auction sale held in Mansfield in the late '30s. They were secured by the State library and, after examination, were treated by the Emery process by which each sheet is covered by a transparent silk, like a leaf in amber.

On Her Sixth Birthday.

DOGS WILL WEAR THEIR MUZZLES TODAY
A Regulation Gave Into Effect to Hold For 90 Days

Muzzled dogs will be the only ones that will have a free liberty to roam the streets of Norwich for the next three months from this morning, according to the regulation that has been put into effect by the order of the state commissioner of domestic animals.

It is safe to say that there will be a lot of uncomfortable dogs around the city today, for the ordinary dog, unaccustomed to wearing a muzzle will not take very kindly to the wire cage over the snout.

The muzzling order, which comes as a consequence of the recent mad dog scare, will make something of a boom in the muzzle business locally, as there were 1,400 dogs licensed. It is estimated that the number of muzzles has decreased by 100 or so, which would indicate that there would be sales for about 1,300 muzzles if all the dogs were fitted out to be safe under the law.

VENISON SUPPER FOR NORWICH LODGE OF ELKS

Connecticut Infantile Mortality Decreased.
During the past few years there has been a considerable reduction in the general death rate with a corresponding increase in the average duration of human life. This has been largely brought about through the saving of the infant at the expense of the mother, and especially on infants under one year of age. Only eight years ago the infant mortality rate in Connecticut was the monthly bulletin of the state board of health, was 140 deaths under one year of age to every 1,000 living births or one death in every 7.14 live births. This has gradually decreased so that during the present year the infant death rate was about 100 deaths to every 1,000 births or one in every nine and one-half births. In other words, if the infant death rate of 1904 prevailed in 1914 there would have been 1,000 more infant deaths. One of the means by which this result has been accomplished is by infant welfare work, and in another column we publish an article by the physician in charge of this work in New Haven giving an account of the welfare work done there.

ERIOUS CATARRH YIELDS TO HYOMEL

Also One of the Best Remedies for Head Colds or Bronchitis.

Be wise in time and use Hyomel at the first symptom of catarrh, such as frequent colds, constant sniffing, drooping in the throat, or dull headaches. Do not let the disease become deep-seated, for it will surely wreck your health, often causing loss of hearing and the sense of smell and taste, and if not checked may result in one of the most dreaded and often fatal diseases.

Hyomel is nature's true remedy for catarrh—the direct method—you breathe it so that the medication goes right to the sore and diseased tissues lining the air passages of the head, throat and bronchial tubes. Its antiseptic healing must begin at once.

It's no bother to use Hyomel. Simply put a few drops of the liquid into a tumbler, inhale that comes with every complete outfit, and breathe it a few times during the day. You will feel better after the first breath of Hyomel, and clear the head and throat like magic; while after a few days' use you will find all your catarrhal symptoms are disappearing.

There is nothing easier, quicker or more satisfying than the Hyomel treatment for catarrh. It is not only a relief but a sure and lasting benefit—and most economical. All druggists sell Hyomel, while Lee and Carroll Co. will supply anyone on the guarantee of money back if they are not satisfied.
